Summary of reasons for decision:

The availability of the computer image file printout is restricted to persons who have attained the age of 18 years because it depicts a young woman displaying her breasts and part of her pubis in a manner that invites the viewer to see her as sexually available. The age of the image's subject is difficult to ascertain but there is not enough visual evidence to say she is not an adult. The image is intended for adult viewers and for the purpose of sexual arousal. Its explicit nature means its availability to children or young people is likely to have a negative effect on the development of sexual behaviour and attitudes.

The New Zealand Bill of Rights Act 1990 has been considered in the application of the criteria of the Films, Videos, and Publications Classification Act 1993 to this publication, in particular, s3(2)(a). Where doubt exists, the interpretation of the Act most consistent with freedom of expression must be used. The classification places a small limit on the freedom of expression, but is reasonable, demonstrably justifiable and the minimum required to avoid injury.
